

An opinion may be sought from the Building Committee by a relevant authority as to -

- (a) whether if a proposed development will meet the Performance Requirements of the Building Code of Australia (BCA); or
- (b) if there is a case for exemption from the access provisions due to unjustifiable hardship under regulation 80A of the Development Regulations 2008.

An opinion must be sought from the Building Committee by a private certifier in relation to Crown development where the proposed building work would be at variance with the performance requirements of the BCA.
